DECROO IMPRESSES

The buzz about west-coast act Rodney DeCROO and the Killers gets louder as the weeks pass, thanks to a self-titled disc that came out midway through 2004. Rootsy and rugged sounding, DeCROO writes gripping songs that sound as weathered and lived-in as they come.

— Edmonton Journal

"On Vancouver poet, actor and singer-songwriter Rodney DeCROO's debut there's no denying the feel and vocals reminiscent of Blood On The Tracks-era Dylan but the band kicks way harder and the writing is gritty as Saturday night on Carral St."

— The Province

"Since coming out of nowhere 2 years ago, he's hit the town like a storm. A gothic folk/country storm that is."

— Red Cat News

"Rodney DeCROO kills 'em in Western Canada. See what all the fuss is about."

— The Chart

"Rodney DeCROO is one of my favourite singer-songwriters."

— Sam Parton, Be Good Tanyas

"So talented - he's lethal!"

— The Red Deer Advocate

"Rodney DeCROO channels the storytelling tradition of Dylan, Van Zandt and Parsons into his own commanding country-rock performed by ace band the Killers"

— Vancouver Sun

"The Bear's Paw Cafe in Wells resembled a Commercial Drive coffee bar in east Vancouver as singer-songwriter Rodney DeCROO delivered a masterful acoustic set to a standing room only audience on Saturday night."

— The Quesnel Caribou Observer

"Insightful lyrics based on personal experience, Dylanesque delivery, and driving country and rock rhythms dominate."

— See Magazine, Edmonton
